Essence of Pepsine—Fairchild

is, by intention and in fact, physiologically different from the preparations made with dry pepsin. It is obtained from the secreting glands of the fresh gastric mucous membrane by a process which extracts the principles and properties of the gastric juice and presents them in association with all the soluble gastric cell constituents.

Essence of Pepsine—Fairchild

is practically an artificial gastric juice, standardized to a definite activity with respect to each of the two well-known gastric enzymes, promptly active in promoting gastric normality, upon which depends the further normal transformation of food into the absorbable form in which it becomes directly contributory to life and energy.

Vaccine Therapy

Its Use and Abuse

The benefits to be derived from bacterial vaccines depend almost entirely upon two things. First, proper diagnosis in differentiating the infection about to be treated and, second, the selection of the appropriate vaccine or vaccines and their correct symptomatic administration both as to dosage and spacing. Given the fulfillment of these conditions results can be looked for with reasonable certainty in the average case.

NOT A CURE-ALL.

Of course there are instances where proper diagnosis and correct methods of administration may prove unavailing, probably due to the fact that some cases are not amenable to vaccine therapy on account of lowered resistance from the progress of the disease and the inability of the system to respond to the treatment.

AUTOGENOUS VACCINE.

It need hardly be stated that the autogenous or personal vaccine truly representing the personal organism or organisms of infection in a given case is more ideal and appropriate than any stock vaccine of whatever number of strains or bacterial flora, nevertheless the "stock" vaccines enter more largely into vaccine treatments on account of price and convenience and the fact that they are giving good results in the majority of cases, and possibly as good as the autogenous vaccines in many.

LIMITATIONS OF STOCK VACCINES.

The use of a stock vaccine is necessarily limited. If it represents only one organism it is indicated only in infections solely due to that specific organism. Take for instance a Gonococcic Vaccine, it is only indicated in pure Gonococcic infections. A Gonococcic infection complicated with associating bacteria will not respond to it because it only represents one organism in the infection, and herein lies the cause of many failures—the vaccine is called upon to do work for which it is not fitted, so to speak, and was never intended.

MOST CHRONIC CASES MIXED.

It is a fact, now generally recognized, that most all chronic cases of Gonorrhea, and even many acute ones, are mixed infections, and that the secondary infections change the characteristics of and sometimes even eliminate the original infection. With this in view we have prepared a Mixed Gonorrhea Vaccine—one representing the bacteria almost invariably found in association in chronic Gonorrhea together with those occasionally found in such cases, and this we have standardized to about 500,000,000 dead cells to the c.c.

It is the nearest approach that can be made in a stock vaccine to a personal one, and represents in its adjustment the average mixed infection.

WORTHY OF A TRIAL.

Already, it has been tried by hundreds of physicians and the results are highly gratifying. While not desiring to make any absolute claims for its efficiency, we candidly believe that it possesses merit that warrants us in recommending it to the medical profession as worthy of the fullest and fairest trial.

We should be pleased to send our complete price list and literature to physicians and for those who are interested in

DIAMOND ANTISEPTICS, LILLY

YOU CAN'T MISTAKE THEM IN THE DARK

¶ The tablets are diamond shape and marked "POISON;" the bottle is of peculiar design—safeguarding users against error.

¶ Mercury Bichloride is first among the powerful germicides. The safest and best way to use it is in the form of Diamond Antiseptics, Lilly, which combine rapid solubility and certainty of germicidal action with the greatest safety possible.

Back View of Bottle
Containing 25 Large Tablets

¶ The tablets are hand-molded and their loose texture, angular shape and large surface render them rapidly soluble.

¶ A small amount of citric acid is combined with the bichloride which prevents precipitation of insoluble mercury in neutral solutions, hard water or when in contact with albuminous liquids.

¶ Solutions of Diamond Antiseptics are permanent and act with certainty on all septic matter, even in blood, pus, serum, etc.

¶ While soft or distilled warm water is best for solutions, Diamond Antiseptics dissolve quickly in moderately hard water—an important advantage in emergencies.

¶ They are made in two sizes—LARGE and SMALL, containing 7.3 grs. and 1.82 grs. of Mercury Bichloride respectively, and three colors—White, Blue and Pink. The large tablets are supplied in bottles of 25, 100 and 1000, also in pounds. The small tablets are supplied in bottles of 100, 500 and 1000.

¶ By specifying Diamond Antiseptics, "Lilly," you will take every precaution possible against inefficiency and error. Send request for samples to Indianapolis.

The method of treatment employed is based upon the original investigations of Dr. Geo. E. Pettey of Memphis, Tenn., and first published to the profession by him in 1901. (See Therapeutic Gazette, Oct. 1901.)

This method of treatment removes these addictions from the list of almost incurable diseases and renders them the most certainly and readily curable of the chronic ailments.

(LINEN-MESH.)

Boiling water and soap will render this Underwear entirely clean when soiled, just like other linens. A garment which cannot stand boiling water and soap for an hour or longer, is neither clean nor aseptic.

Woolen undergarments and flannels generally do not stand this test. They are never clean, but a hotbed of dirt and disease germs.

In addition to cleanliness, the Dr. Deimel Underwear gives comfort and protection, with relief from colds, catarrh, pulmonary affections and rheumatism.

Lane Hospital Announcement

Lane Hospital has recently been enlarged, renovated, and improved. A story has been added, increasing the capacity to one hundred and seventy-five beds. The operating rooms have been remodeled and a new top-lighted and thoroughly equipped laparotomy room added. The new arrangements increase the convenience and double the capacity of the surgical department, while the same high standard of efficiency in the operating room service will be maintained as in the past.

A Maternity Department has been established, consisting of a number of well-lighted, isolated rooms, in close relation to a completely equipped delivery room.

Two Children's Wards have been opened, and particular attention will be paid to the care and nursing of children.

The Eye and Ear Department has been provided with special wards, special nurses and separate treatment rooms.

The X-Ray Department is located in the new portion of the hospital and has been provided with every convenience for examination, treatment and laboratory work. An entirely new set of the latest and most efficient apparatus has been installed.

Roof Garden. A special feature of the recent addition is a well-protected roof garden where convalescents may enjoy fresh air and sunlight and where patients may be given the benefit of outdoor treatment.

While the Faculty of Cooper Medical College acts as a medical and surgical staff to the hospital, the privileges of the institution are freely open to all regular physicians in good standing. Physicians having patients in Lane Hospital are assured of every professional courtesy.

Communications may be addressed to the resident physician.
